Important points to note to maintain your Japan Post Bank account properly

- If you open a Japan Post Bank account when you have been in Japan for less than six months, you must change your status from "non-resident" to "resident" at the bank (post office) once six months have passed since your date of entry into Japan.

Under the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act, banks are obligated to review the transactions of “non-residents” and determine whether each transaction is to be subject to certain restrictions under the law. For this reason, as a rule, the Japan Post Bank treats certain domestic money transfers by “non-residents” as “international transfers,” even if the money is only moving from one Japanese bank account to another. Under the law, foreign nationals, including international students, who have been in Japan for less than six months are treated as “non-residents” by the bank.

For example, non-residents cannot make a domestic money transfer from their account through an ATM. It is possible for them to do so at the bank counter, but an international transfer fee of around 7,500 yen will be charged, and it will take time for the transfer to be completed. Also, if someone sends money to you, the sender will be required to pay an international transfer fee. (The MEXT scholarship is processed as a domestic remittance.)

Once six months have passed since your entry into Japan, you must visit the Japan Post Bank (post office) and change your status from “non-resident” to “resident.” If you do not do so, transfers to and from your account will be subject to delays and surcharges. For more details, please refer to Attachment 1 and the Japan Post Bank website below.

For reference: Japan Post Bank: “Domestic remittance for non-resident customers” (only available in Japanese)

https://www.jp-bank.japanpost.jp/kojin/sokin/gaitame/kj_sk_gt_index.html

- When there is a change in your status of residence (e.g. extension of period of stay, etc.), be sure to inform the Japan Post Bank of the change. If you do not notify the bank of the change, your account will be deactivated after a certain period.
- If you leave Japan after graduating from the university, be sure to close your bank account after confirming that all debts have been settled. If you cannot close your account before leaving Japan, you can delegate the procedure to a proxy. Be sure to check with your local post office regarding the delegation procedure before leaving Japan.

Important notice for nonresident customers

From Friday, May 6, 2022, domestic remittances involving nonresident customers will be handled as international remittances.

Japanese banks are obligated by Article 17 (Obligation of Banks, etc. to Confirm) of the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act (hereinafter, "the Foreign Exchange Act") to confirm that exchange transactions, etc., involving nonresidents do not violate the following regulations.

Applicable regulations (example)

- Regulations on parties subject to economic sanctions
- Regulations on the purpose of use of funds concerning Iran's nuclear development, etc.
- Regulations on payment for trade with North Korea and regulations on the purpose of use of funds concerning its nuclear development, etc.

To fulfill the above obligation without fail, we will handle some domestic remittances as international remittances.

Remittances subject to the change

1. Account transfers

(remittances from Japan Post Bank accounts to other Japan Post Bank accounts or accounts at other banks)

Any domestic money transfers involving nonresident customers will be handled as international remittances. Consequently, the channels and remittance fees for international remittances will be applied to such transfers.

Channel	Japan Post Bank branches; savings counters at post offices handling international remittances ^()	Yucho Direct ^()	ATMs; post offices not handling international remittances (*) Consumption tax is not imposed on the remittance fee.

The change is applied to transfers from or to Japan Post Bank accounts held by nonresidents (including transfers to accounts at other banks held by nonresidents).

2. Cash remittances

• Telegraphic inpayment (cash remittances that do not use payment forms)

Remittances from nonresident customers and remittances to accounts held by nonresident customers will not be accepted.
